

With the Oil Men

B. H. Dunlap of the Twin State Oil company left yesterday on business trip to Pawnee.

Arch Grider is leaving for northern Michigan and will fish among the pines and bushes in the country where the water runs cool and the fish are plentiful. He will camp and will have Miss Grider for guide and companion, should the fishing be slow, but promises to send all his friends a morsel of those brook trout that make the northern wild farm one. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Constantine are going fishing in the Spavinaw over here than any stream I ever saw in my life, as the water is as clear as anywhere, but for the fact we want to get away to our old camping grounds where we know every riffle of the old river. Tulsa should be all means put over the Spavinaw water problem. It is impossible that the citizens would vote against it. That ever saw or had the same experience Bill Bassett and I had last summer when we undertook to cross it
